

ABSTRACT

A method, apparatus and system for efficient file indexing are presented. In this regard, an index agent is introduced to receive an index file from a remote location in response to an event associated with a request, to parse the index file to extract entries, to select entries to store based at least in part upon both the spacing between the entries in the index file and an allocation of memory, and to store the selected entries into the memory.